

G2J launches MyEasyVision[®], a videoconferencing and telepresence management software

G2J, a leader in the video conferencing and telepresence market, is strengthening its development and presents its solution MyEasyVision[®], a new tool to assist professionals in the intuitive management of any of their meetings.

MyEasyVision[®] is a management solution for videoconferencing and telepresence facilities. A solution developed by G2J. It is primarily, a professional meeting facilitator, a dedicated software to organize, manage your conferences and to access to detailed reports. Specifically, MyEasyVision[®] enables users to monitor their videoconferences. The software also meets the needs of administrators.

The software MyEasyVision[®] is an application available via a secure Web browser or a VPN, and offers major video conferencing services. A strength of MyEasyVision[®] is its agnostic technology that fits with any equipment: Cisco, Tandberg, Polycom, LifeSize, Radvision, Sony, Aethra.

MyEasyVision[®] allows access to multiple features:

- Book conferences: for each new booking, you'll be sent an Outlook or Lotus meeting request (the format of the request depends on the calendar you use) to the selected contacts. You can make a booking either from your mailbox or from the software.
- View the agenda of videoconferences and equipments.
- Manage your video conferences in real time: cut the microphones or the cameras off, record sessions, limit the number of participants, define layout.
- Access to statistics, and measure the ROI.
- Manage a directory of facilities and contacts

- Declare and manage incidents: from the calendar and the tab "manage my conferences", users can make a request for assistance

MyEasyVision[®] therefore offers users and administrators the ability to access a single window to manage and prepare their videoconferencing sessions in the best conditions, by breaking users free from all the constraints traditionally faced when using the technology. The competitive financial positioning of the offer allows it to be widely used (both by large companies and SMBs).

The head of R & D in G2J says "MyEasyVision is positioned as a key tool offering multiple functions: planning, booking, managing, ticketing, reporting. My Easy Vision is a real tool for collaboration. Our solution aims to increase sharply utilization rates, by offering more autonomy in managing remote meetings. "
