

G2J together with 32 French teaching hospitals to increase their use of videoconferencing

In October 2010, The Union of Hospitals for Purchases, Uni H.A, launched a call for tender to implement a videoconferencing user assistance service.

Some of the 32 teaching hospitals are currently equipped with a video-conferencing infrastructure .The aim set is, therefore, to ensure proper use of videoconferencing equipment and to administrate on a daily basis the videoconferencing infrastructures of those 32 French teaching hospitals.

The goal is also to delegate the management of this equipment and ease the access to technology to make the use of videoconferencing grow.

G2J responded to this request by two of its expert services: Videoconciergerie and Infrastructure Management Services, and by a solution, MyEasyVision , an on-line portal to manage videoconferencing, allowing simple control of the technology for administrators and a more serene and intuitive use for end-users.

G2J's infrastructure management service includes supervision, management, remote administration and operational maintenance of videoconferencing equipment, supervision of potential defects, feedbacks to UNIHA in case of abnormal operation.

In addition, G2J also endorses a role of adviser with UNIHA regarding updates to be undertaken.

A service of Videoconciergerie will also be implemented to help users to book and manage multisite videoconferences.

G2J is now working together with 32 French teaching hospitals and their users so that they acquaint themselves with the use of videoconferencing equipments, another aim being to maximize the return on investment of such equipments.

About UNI.H.A

In a context of budget cut backs, some French hospitals decided unanimously in April 2005 to pool their purchases.

This approach aims to enable part of the French public hospitals to both streamline and optimize their purchases and therefore make the most of technological breakthrough to upgrade existing infrastructures. This year, Uni.H.A saved €141millions for a volume of purchase amounting to €1.5 billions.

Today Uni.H.A includes 54 members across de country. This “group for health cooperation” represents 45% of the expenses of public hospitals. By 2012, members aim to pool 70% of their purchases.
